

THE SOCIAL IDENTITIES WE FORM

You will be working with all sorts of people throughout your career.

That is why you need to know, understand and respect the core values of their cultures.

During a training session, you are asked to make an intervention covering such issues as stereotypes, bashing, independence, cultural conditioning and group effects.

To do your job in a very interactive way, you plan to comment a video dealing with those issues.

But before, you need to get as much information as possible in order to be very comprehensive on the matter at stake.

To do so, you will:

- Watch videos and take down some notes
- Learn how to define key concepts
- Review the ways to give your opinion and to qualify judgments
- Work on speaking in front of others
- Learn how to explain things very clearly through basic diagrams
